Business Activity Groups, Business Activity Description & NAICS Code

How to Use this Chart

The District has a diverse business community, with hundreds of different business activities. For consistency with the Internal Revenue Service and the DC Office of Tax and Revenue, the Basic Business License System uses the North American Industrial Code System (NAICS).

1. Choose the Business Activity Group(s) that describes your business. There may be several that are appropriate, depending on how you define your operation /or if your business activities are varied. Many businesses have multiple activities. You must list all of them on your application.
2. Each group contains an alphabetical list of business activities that require a Basic Business License endorsement. Each business activity is briefly described.
3. When you identify a business activity that best describes your business, print the name of the activity and its NAICS Code (the 6-digit code to the right of the title) in Section E of your Application. Continue to do this until you've entered all primary activities.

If, after reviewing the list you're still not sure what your business activity is, contact our Business License Center at (202) 442-4400 for help.
